Item 3.05: Proclamation Honoring Caribbean Heritage Month (Exhibit F)

WHEREAS, National Caribbean American Heritage Month, spearheaded and championed by Dr. Claire Nelson, the first Jamaican woman to earn a doctorate degree in an engineering discipline, and a founding member of the Institute of Caribbean Studies, has been celebrated across the nation since 2000; and

WHEREAS, Caribbean individuals are some of the most ethnically diverse in the world and are a fusion of Indigenous, African, European, and Asian descent; and the Caribbean, also called the West Indies, is made up of more than 700 islands, reefs, and cays, which are organized into 30 territories including 13 sovereign nations: Antigua and Barbuda, Bahamas, Barbados, Cuba, Dominica, Dominican Republic, Grenada, Haiti, Jamaica, Saint Lucia, Saint Kitts and Nevis, Saint Vincent and the Grenadines and Trinidad and Tobago; and

Item 3.06: Proclamation Honoring LGBTQIA+ Pride Month (Exhibit F)

WHEREAS, June marks the anniversary of the first LGBTQIA+ Pride Parade over fifty years ago, which served as a call to collective action just one year after the 1969 Stonewall riots, where LGBTQIA+ people, especially queer youth and transgender women, resisted pervasive police harassment and violence during an early morning bar raid in New York City; and

WHEREAS, the decades since have been one of struggle and triumph for the LGBTQIA+ community. Despite increased understanding and legal protections, LGBTQIA+ youth still face many challenges including the threat of their legal rights and protections being revoked, across the country. Without accepting families, schools, and communities, they are far more likely to attempt suicide or experience homelessness; and

WHEREAS, recent studies show most LGBTQIA+ middle and high school students in Virginia say they have been verbally harassed because of their sexual orientation and often hear negative remarks about transgender people in school. Additionally, middle and high school students in Virginia report experiencing physical assaults because of their LGBTQIA+ status. Students of color are disproportionately impacted by anti-LGBTQIA+ hostility, with large percentages of Latinx and Black LGBTQIA+ middle and high school students experiencing bullying; and

WHEREAS, now more than ever, with LGBTQIA+ people, especially transgender and gender-expansive youth, are being attacked verbally and in law-making, the Fairfax County School Board stands with and celebrates its LGBTQIA+ students, families, and staff. The School Board recognizes the urgency of its charge to foster a responsive, caring, and inclusive culture where LGBTQIA+ students are affirmed and see their identities reflected in instructional curriculum, school programs, and school library offerings. It further commits to advancing policies that protect LGBTQIA+ students and staff and enhance their experience in Fairfax County Public Schools; and

WHEREAS, the Fairfax County School Board appreciates the many contributions made by its LGBTQIA+ students, families, and staff to the vibrancy of the broader school community. Fairfax County has a richly diverse LGBTQIA+ population that includes people from all walks of life who should be able to live without fear of prejudice, discrimination, harassment, or violence – physical or political.

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, the Fairfax County School Board, on behalf of the students, families, and staff of Fairfax County Public Schools, proclaims June 2026 as

LGBTQIA+ PRIDE MONTH

WHEREAS, Mary Porter has dedicated more than 15 years of exceptional service to Real Food for Kids, bringing to that work the full breadth of her experience across for-profit, nonprofit, and educational environments spanning more than twenty-five years—joining as a founding board member in 2010, deepening her expertise as an accredited health counselor through the Institute for Integrative Nutrition, and ascending to the role of director of programs in 2016, through which she has served as the organizational heart of Real Food for Kids' mission to advance healthy food access and nutrition education for the children of Fairfax County Public Schools; and

WHEREAS, Ms. Porter has been the driving force behind landmark programs that have shaped the culture of food and nutrition in Fairfax County Public Schools—including Food Day, which has brought communities together each year in celebration of real, healthy food; and the annual culinary challenge, which inspires students to discover the joy and creativity of cooking and opens a dialogue between the Food and Nutrition Services (FNS) department and students to advance real, whole foods in student cafeterias—programs that have engaged thousands of students and their families in meaningful, hands-on learning and planted seeds of lifelong healthy habits; and

WHEREAS, Ms. Porter has championed the expansion of SNAP enrollment access among FCPS students and families, recognizing that federal nutrition benefits only fulfill their promise when the families who need them most are empowered to access them—working to reduce barriers, connect families with resources, and ensure that no child goes without nourishing food due to lack of information or support, reflecting her enduring conviction that food security is a matter of dignity and justice; and

WHEREAS, Ms. Porter exemplifies the spirit of civic engagement and community leadership that strengthens the fabric of Fairfax County—having served with distinction on the FCPS School Health Advisory Committee, Career and Technical Education Advisory Committee, and the Superintendent's Budget Task Force, bringing her expertise in nutrition and public health to bear on decisions that affect all students and shaping pathways that prepare students for meaningful careers; having served as PTA president at Hollin Meadows Elementary School, a Title I school where her commitment to equity was put into daily practice; and having been honored as Lady Fairfax for the Mount Vernon District in 2014 in recognition of her extraordinary contributions to the community—a record of service that reflects not only professional dedication but a genuine and abiding love for the children, families, and communities she serves;
